Dear Professor Welch,

CPA 2008 : Author Declaration

I have just submitted the final camera-ready copy of my paper:

that you have accepted for publication in the proceedings of the conference, Communicating Process Architectures 2008 (CPA 2008), which takes place from the 7th. to 10th. September at the University of York, England.

I understand that proceedings are being published by IOS Press (Amsterdam, Netherlands), which has a formal publishing agreement with the University of Kent as commissioning contractor. I also understand that, as part of that agreement, the University of Kent has made the following warranty:

> The University hereby warrants to the Publisher that the said work is in no way a violation of any existing copyright or other right or agreement and that it contains nothing of an objectionable or libellous character and that it and its legal representatives will hold harmless the Publisher from all ill effects, suits, claims and proceedings which may be taken or suffered by publishers or others upon the ground that the said work is such a violation or contains anything objectionable or libellous.

On behalf of myself and my co-authors (if any), I declare that my submitted paper (named above) conforms to the terms of the above warranty – i.e. that it violates no existing copyright or other right or agreement and that it contains nothing of an objectionable or libellous character.

Authors retain copyright (jointly with IOS Press) on their papers published in the proceedings of CPA 2008. On behalf of myself and my co-authors (if any), I give permission for the PDF image of the final paper to be made available in the public on-line repository maintained by WoTUG (http://www.wotug.org/paperdb/).

Yours sincerely,
